

‘Music Together’

The Sunbury Arts Council’s new music education program ‘Music Together’ will provide equal access for every child to learn an instrument.

Every child needs the opportunity to experience music. Due to difficult circumstances, countless families are unable to afford the high cost of private music lessons. We are dedicated to helping families with children interested in music and offering them low cost or free music lessons. With your support we hope to start enrolling students into our “Music Together’ program, Fall of 2022.

All Classes will be taught by local, professional and college level students studying music. Students will have the opportunity to give back to their community through recitals and performances.

It is our goal to bring our program to local schools and introduce students to music and instruments with a hands-on learning experience. Students who are interested in learning an instrument will be able to sign up for ‘Music Together’ classes.

Teaching children to play music or create art is one of the most valuable things that you can give to a child. It Teaches patience, Responsibility, enhances coordination, boosts self-esteem, helps with math and reading skills, encourages self-expression, and social skills. Ultimately the value of learning an instrument or creating a piece of art, either through self-expression or visual arts depends on so many things. Not just what you gain but what you enjoy. We will help them get started by finding an instrument that piques their interest.

 “Art Together’ is a separate program that will provide summer art instruction and opportunities for students.
